FREEMAN'S CHLORODYNE.

The Original and only True.

A SURE PREVENTATIVE OF INFLUENZA.

DISCOVERED and invented by Richard Freeman in 1844. Introduced into India in 1850, and subsequently into the Australasian Colonies, Egypt, China, and every other part of the HARBORABLE GLOBE.

In the following diseases, no matter in what part of the world they are found, FREEMAN'S CHLORODYNE is a special and specific remedy: diarrhoea, ague, dysentery (both acute and chronic), ardent, dengue and all other kinds of fever, cramp, colic, gout, neuralgia, rheumatism, wind-stroke, sore-throat, influenza, whooping cough, bronchitis, asthma, epilepsy, hysteria, spasms, sun-stroke, convulsions, sciatica, lumbago, cholera, and yellow fever.

Freeman's Chlorodyne allays the irritation of fever, soothes and strengthens the system under exhaustive diseases, restores the deranged functions, stimulates healthy action of the secretions of the body, gives quiet and refreshing sleep, and marvellously prolongs life. It may be taken by old and young, at all hours and times, according to the directions.

The great characteristic of FREEMAN'S CHLORODYNE is its marvellous power to assuage PAIN of every kind, which no other preparation sold under a similar name possesses in anything like the same degree, has attracted the attention of sufferers in all parts of the world.

One of the most marked symptoms of CANCER is the PAIN—pain of a most severe, intermittent, neuralgic sort, gradually increasing in severity, felt in the tumour itself as a sharp, stabbing or burning sensation. Freeman's Original Chlorodyne is now acknowledged to surpass all other known remedies in allaying the pain of cancer. Mr. Freeman's Pamphlet on the treatment and cure of cancer will be forwarded post free.

Manufactured by the Sole Inventor, RICHARD FREEMAN, Pharmacist, 70, Kennington Park Road, London, S.E.

Sold by Chemists and Patent Medicine Dealers in all parts of the world, in bottles, 1s. 1ld.; 2-oz., 2s. 9d.; 4-oz., 4s. 6d.; half-pints, 11s.; and pints, 20s. each.

N.B.—Lord Chancellor Selborne, Lord Justice Jay, and Lord Justice Mellish, decided in favour of FREEMAN'S ORIGINAL CHLORODYNE, and against Brown and Davenport, compelling them to pay all costs in the suits. —See Times of July 24th, 1873.

A few of the TESTIMONIALS received from users of the SWAN FOUNTAIN and GOLD PENS:—

London, September 17, 1875.
Messrs. Mable, Todd, & Bard.

Sirs,—I have sent one of your Pens, to have a point mended, through Messrs. Hooker, Lewis, and Co., of this City. You may like to know that I have used this Pen constantly for more than TWENTY YEARS, from the days of a book of mine called "The Autocrat of the Breakfast Table" (1857-8) until last Friday without repair, and always with perfect satisfaction. I have written with it half a dozen or more volumes, a large number of essays, &c., and thousands of letters. I feel to it as to an old friend, and I hope you will do the best you can for it, though I have in the meantime bought another of your make—"corrugated," marked C. I do not know whether YOU care for this testimonial, but I feel as if THE PEN which has carried out so much of my thought, and brought back so much in various form, in return, was entitled to this certificate of honourable service.—I am, Gentlemen, yours truly,

OLIVER WENDELL HOLMES.

2, Amen Corner, Jan. 25, 1894.

Sirs,—I have been using a SWAN PEN formerly three years, and although I have given it exceptionally hard work, it seems to me to write just as smoothly and comfortably as when I started. I NEVER WANT A BETTER PEN. For men who are constantly scribbling—as I am—the MABLE-TODD PEN is indispensable. I simply could not go back to the old hand spluttering steel nib.—Yours faithfully,

F. A. ATKINS,
Editor of the "Young Man," and
"Young Woman."

Carisbrooke, Birchlurst-rise,
South Croydon,
June 12, 1893.

My dear Sirs,—I must congratulate you very heartily on your success in making a large-size Swan. The larger, and therefore stronger, more durable and flexible nib, and the greater ink capacity of the large-size Swan, are advantages which cannot fail to be readily appreciated by all fountain pen users.

The two large-size Swans, one for longhand and one for shorthand, which I now have, seem to me, in every way, as near perfection as one may hope to get.—Very truly yours,

EDWARD J. NANKWELL,
Editor "The Reporters' Magazine."

5, Endsleigh Gardens, London, N.W.,
Jan. 23, 1894.

Sirs,—I have used the Pen with which I am writing this letter for more than three years with the greatest satisfaction. I sometimes travel without any other companion, but I never feel that I am without a friend as long as I have my faithful "MABLE" with me. Once or twice when, through some carelessness of mine, my COMPANION has been laid aside for a day or two, his steel and quill Substitutes have irritated me so much that I have felt that in such company an editorial life would be well exchanged for that much-maligned but healthy occupation of keeping our high roads in a state of good repair.

Several of my fellow-editors, including Rev. HUGH PRICE-HUGHES and Mr. F. A. ATKINS, rejoice in the possession of a similar companion in their literary labours, and are, I know, equally disposed to bless the skill and inventiveness of Messrs. Mable, Todd, and Bard.—Yours truly,

HENRY S. LUNN.

Editor of "The Review of the Churches."

Knollys Road, Streatham, S.W.,
Feb. 10, 1894.

Dear Sirs,—It may interest you to know that the pen with which I write this note is the same pen I bought from you some fifteen years ago. It has done much hard and constant work in its day, both in my reporting practice and in my ordinary business correspondence. It has now got quite used to my ways, and is to-day a better instrument than when it swept over the pages of my notebook in its first nest-orienting race to overtake and pin to paper the thrilling periods of the Rev. Dr. Alexander Whyte, of Free St. George's. Since that thinking of "Eleanor, the son of Bala, the Alchite," who "smote the Philistines until his hand was weary, and his hand clave unto the sword," I am now resorted for my latest photographic work, which is all done at home, while the traveler nib I have recommended this pen to hundreds of my photographic confederates, who are never seen in the lecture hall without a fine and a medium or broad-pointed Swan.—Yours faithfully,

WILLIAM MAIR, F.N.P.S.
